

Prospects of Grain Trade With Russia

By GIL MAYO
AP Business News Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—A prolonged drought and prospects of huge grain shipments to Russia boosted futures transactions on the Board of Trade in 1963 to the largest volume in 38 years.

In value it was the largest of record, estimated at $55 billion, compared with $33.5 billion 1963 and $45.5 billion in 1961. Brokers handled an estimated 24.1 billion bushels of wheat, soybeans, corn, oats and rye in the futures pits, almost 8 billion more than in 1962. The 1961 total was 19.8 billion. The record volume of 26.8 billion was handled in 1925.

As they have for the past several years, soybeans attracted by far the largest trade volume largely because they never have been in burdensome supply despite steadily increasing production. Transactions in soybeans alone accounted for approximately 70 per cent of the total in all pits, often exceeding 60 million bushels a day.

A drought which began last winter in most of the Midwest and extended into July became a strong bullish influence in the market, particularly for corn and soybeans.

It drove soybeans from a low of $2.53 1/2 a bushel in March to a peak of $2.81 in the first few days of July. After the heavy general rainfall at that time, prices dropped back to their springtime level.

In the same period, corn ranged from $1.15 to $1.31 and back. Weather ceased to be of much consideration when Russia opened negotiations in late September, presumably for about 150 million bushels of wheat and perhaps other agricultural products.

That set off another heavy burst of speculative trading which added about 30 cents a bushel to wheat prices at the extreme. However, the Soviets balked at some of the conditions of sale and negotiations dragged on into December with nothing actually booked.

Appeal for Legislation Fruitless

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP)—It has been nine days since President Johnson appeared before Congress to urge the quickest possible action on civil rights and tax cut bills as a tribute to the late President Kennedy.

He followed that appeal with a wide-ranging series of conferences, statements and telephone calls, all part of the technique he made famous in six years as Senate majority leader.

Has the result been to improve prospects for the two bills or to advance the time when final passage may be expected? The answer appears to be that there is not much change, certainly not the dramatic improvement looked for by some avid supporters of the measures.

The timetable for Senate Finance Committee action on the $11 billion tax cut has been speeded up slightly. But the House Rules Committee still plans no sessions on civil rights until next month.

Before Kennedy's assassination, Democratic congressional leaders were strongly confident both bills eventually would become law, the tax bill without too much trouble but civil rights only after a bitter fight. They say the outlook is about the same now.

Senate leaders had given up hope for passage of the tax bill in their branch this year. This has proved realistic.

House leaders had been pushing for floor debate on civil rights in December. They redoubled their efforts under Johnson's prodding but the chances for any action before January now appear very slim. Johnson has succeeded, however, in getting some more specific pledges of action from those in a position to hold up the bills. This may help prevent further delays.

Some legislators believe that the new president's extensive congressional experience may enable him to shape a successful compromise viewed as essential to win passage of civil rights. They point out he played this role in the angry debates over the 1957 and 1960 bills on the subject.

Holiday Reward Same Halloween

MCGEEHEE, Ark. (AP)—Cooperating in an anti-Halloween vandalism campaign paid off for pupils at McGeehee schools. They get a holiday Monday—the opening day of Arkansas' second deer season.

School Supt. Ned Moseley said there was practically no vandalism in the city last Halloween. This is the fourth year the program has been in effect.

Conservative Margin Slips in England

By COLIN FROST
LONDON (AP)—Three more electoral setbacks dimmed Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home's political prestige today, dousing rumors that he might risk a spring general election.

Balloting to fill House of Commons vacancies in London, Manchester and Sudbury all showed a slump in Conservative support sharp enough to give the opposition Labor party a landslide victory in any national poll held anytime soon.

In the London and Manchester districts, the Conservative share of the vote was down 10 per cent compared with the 1959 general election. In Sudbury it dropped 4 per cent.

However, the Conservatives retained the seats in London's St. Marylebone district and Sudbury. The Laborites kept the seat in Manchester's Openshaw district.

The results quickly disposed of talk that the new prime minister was planning to go to the electorate in March.

Now the consensus was that his government must hold on perhaps until next fall, hoping its chances would revive. The election must be held by Nov. 5.

The voting brought back to the House of Commons the former Lord Hailsham now Quintin Hogg. But in winning the safe St. Marylebone district for the Conservatives, he shed more than 10,000 votes from the party's 1959 showing.

Cash Coming in for JFK Library

BOSTON (AP)—Some funds already are in hand or a proposed $6-million John F. Kennedy Memorial Library at Harvard University.

Design of the building will begin almost immediately, Harvard President M. Pusey told a news conference Thursday.

In addition to a library for the late President's personal papers, Pusey said a museum to contain many of Kennedy's possessions is planned.

A corporation to build the structure with public subscriptions was formed Thursday with the slain President's brothers as its chief officers. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is president and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is vice president. The structure will be built on two acres near the Harvard School of Business Administration, within sight of Winthrop House, where Kennedy lived as a Harvard undergraduate.

Harvard will donate the land. Eventually the land and building will be deeded to the federal government, to be administered by the Bureau of Archives.

Pusey said President Kennedy signed a contract with Harvard a month before his assassination to assure the construction. The building was "closest to his heart," Pusey said.

Karam Quits in Legion Post Row

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—James T. Karam, embroiled in an effort to stop drinking and gambling in the club of the M. M. Eberts Post 1 of the American Legion, which he commanded, has resigned.

No reason was given for the resignation. Col. Hobart W. Copeland of North Little Rock was elected to serve out Karam's one-year term.

Karam said in September he intended to stop sale of liquor and gambling in the club. The club has been operated recently by a House Committee appointed by Karam and a petition has been filed in Pulaski Circuit Court to make it a non-profit corporation separate from the Legion post.

Safety-Belt Skeptics Are Still Around, But Their Number Is Diminishing

By MARY ANITA LASETER

In the world today we function, make decisions, and live by statistics. During holiday traffic we are apt to die the same way. Oh, sure. Accidents aren't restricted to holiday driving. But they are more evident then, and our attention is constantly called to them. If we are made aware of the tragedy of accidents, let's become equally aware of a possible preventative.

National Health and Safety organizations which have studied the problem thoroughly have learned that "the most effective single item of protection equipment available to reduce the toll of traffic injuries and deaths" are seat belts.

In a great many cases seat belts prevent injuries, reduce their severity, or prevent death. In a survey by the National Safety Council of the traffic deaths during the holiday week-end of July 4, 1960, it was revealed that about half these same persons would have survived if they had worn them.

Some people are still skeptical of seat belts. In cars, that is. In airplanes, they are fine. Though planes have fewer accidents than automobiles. But the general public is still not completely convinced of the need for seat belts in automobiles.

In Europe the drivers are more conscious of the need of seat belts than are those in the United States. Gradually, the awareness of this need has grown. You might say, it has grown with every death statistic. Several states have passed laws to make seat belts mandatory. Most, if not all states, now have similar legislation pending. Though the Arkansas legislature has not made it mandatory, the use of seat belts has definitely been recommended and encouraged.

President Johnson has just signed a bill concerning them. Though many use a car only around town and, therefore, don't see that such a precaution is necessary, statistics again present a different picture. In 1958 47 percent of all fatalities occurred at travel speeds below 40 miles an hour, and 66 percent took place within 25 miles of the driver's home. So, use your seat belts when driving in town!

Some may object to these devices by saying they might trap the person in a burning or submerged car. Less than 1 percent of all injury-producing accidents involve fire or submersion, your chances of being killed are far greater if you are thrown from the vehicle, and with seat belts you are less likely of being struck unconscious and, therefore, more apt to be able to escape in less than a second after releasing the belt. Those are three things in their favor.

Just as a good driver checks his tires and always carries a spare, the careful person also has a quality seat belt of adequate strength and proper construction and installation. A frightening statistic is all the additional fact we need to see the necessity of precaution. Seventy percent of U.S. drivers will be involved in a traffic accident within the next 5 years! You stand a good chance of being one of those.

These shocking but realistic facts were found between the covers of a magazine called "Awake." Let's hope the public does.

Wirges Out, Newspaper Crusade Ends

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—For the first time in six years the Morrilton Democrat was a non-political weekly newspaper Thursday.

This week's edition was edited by Mrs. Gene Wirges, wife of the controversial publisher who lost the newspaper to a lienholder last week.

It carried no stories on the running fight Wirges has conducted with Conway County officials since he bought the weekly in 1957.

A Little Rock firm, Transportation Properties, Inc., control of the Democrat last Thursday by foreclosing on two liens totaling $22,000.

Bruce T. Bullion, secretary of Transportation Properties, said the company had not formed an editorial policy. He said Mrs. Wirges probably would not remain on the staff although she was asked to publish this week's paper.

Freedom Awards Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson presents the Presidential Medal of Freedom today to 28 Americans and foreigners—all selected by John F. Kennedy as being "dedicated to the highest standards of human achievement."

All have distinguished themselves in public affairs, education, science, health, letters and the creative and performing arts.

The medal, a five-pointed star ringed by gold eagles and hanging from a blue and white ribbon, is the highest civilian award a chief executive may bestow in peacetime.

In presenting the awards today Johnson finishes a task begun by his assassinated predecessor. It was on July 4 that Kennedy announced the list, saying:

"The varied and distinguished careers of those selected... amply demonstrate freedom's rich resource of men and women endowed with creative capacity and dedicated to the highest standards of human achievement. It is such as they, and those who march with them, whose talent enlarges the public vision of the dignity with which life can be graced and the fullness with which it can be lived."

Kennedy named 31 to receive the award — which previously has been received by only 24 persons directly from the president in the medal's 17 year history.

One of those named to receive the medal, but who will not be on hand, was Herbert H. Lehman, a New Deal architect and former U.S. senator and governor of New York.

Embezzlement Case Is Heard

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The trial of William S. Woodard, 28, of Lake Village, on a charge of embezzling government funds, was expected to reach a Federal District Court jury today.

Woodard, manager of the Chicot County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, is accused of taking $217.01 by manipulating checks of part-time employees.

New Trial for Houston Couple Set

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Another trial for Leslie Douglas Ashley and Carolyn Ann Lima, charged with murder in the 1961 gun-torch slaying of Houston real estate man Fred Tones, has been set for Jan. 20.

Dist. Judge Miron A. Love fixed the date Thursday. Ashley and Miss Lima were convicted earlier and drew the death penalty but the sentences were set aside by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

In another court Ashley has filed injunction suits against Sheriff C. V. Kern and the Houston Chronicle. The petitions asked that Kern be forbidden to let reporters and photographers see Ashley without his permission, and that the Chronicle be forbidden to reprint a picture of him that appeared in its Wednesday editions.

The suit against the Chronicle also asks that the newspaper be enjoined from describing Ashley as a female impersonator subject to tantrums.

Stuttgart Girl Is Duck Queen

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—Judy Muller, a senior at DeWitt High School, was crowned Queen Mallard VIII in Thursday night's highlight of the 28th annual World Championship Duck Calling Contest.

Miss Muller, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Muller of DeWitt. She has brown hair and brown eyes.

Sharon Steinmetz of Stuttgart was first runnerup and Sharon Kocourek of Hazen was second runnerup. Malinda Siems of Hazen, a cousin of the current Miss Arkansas, Pam Jackson of North Little Rock, was named Miss Congeniality.

Miss Jackson appeared at the pageant. She blew a duck call and said she would be back next year to enter the contest. Observers remarked wryly that she would need some practice.

The state and women's duck calling contests are scheduled tonight. The world championship is Saturday night.

Municipal Judge Group Convenes

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Judge John L. Sullivan of Little Rock secretary-treasurer of the Arkansas Municipal Judges Association, said no official action was taken at the association's meeting Thursday in Little Rock.

He said the 15-member legislative committee of the association discussed limitations on amounts in civil suits, juvenile cases, the jurisdiction of justices of the peace and other matters.

Oswald Told Wife He Shot At Walker

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, reportedly told his wife he tried to kill Gen. Edwin A. Walker with a rifle shot eight months ago.

The bullet, fired through a window by an unseen sniper, narrowly missed the right-wing general in his Dallas, Texas, home April 10. Walker was cut by flying glass splinters.

Government sources said that Marina Oswald, Russian-born widow of the Marxist ex-Marine has told federal agents that Oswald came home that night and boasted excitedly of his exploit.

Neither the FBI nor the Justice Department confirmed the story. But it was learned that the FBI has been investigating this offshot from the long chain of circumstantial evidence tying Oswald 24, to the sniper-slaying of Kennedy in Dallas on Nov. 22.

The episode reportedly is part of the FBI's massive report on the Assassination, delivered to the Justice Department and shortly to go to the White House.

FBI agents recently picked up the Dallas Police Department report on the assault on Walker Dallas officials disclosed.

Both the Chicago Sun-Times and the Washington Evening Star broke stories Friday of evidence that Oswald fired the shot at Walker. The Associated Press obtained confirmation of the story from two official sources.

FBI Report Done, But Not Investigation

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—There were strong indications today that the FBI has completed its bulky report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy without closing its wide-ranging investigation.

Newsman got hints—but not from any official spokesmen, who refused comment—that the report has been turned over to the Justice Department, which will forward it to President Johnson.

The President in turn is expected to transmit the report to the review commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren.

The Warren commission meets this afternoon. Whether it was to receive the report then was not known in advance.

The FBI is understood to have concluded that Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, ex-Marine and Marxist, planned and executed alone the Nov. 22 slaying in Dallas.

Warren has assured that the bipartisan body will reach beyond the official findings if necessary to clear up any questions that the FBI and six cooperating agencies have not answered to the commission's satisfaction.

Warren announced Thursday, after a 2 1/2-hour commission meeting that Congress will be asked to arm the group with subpoena power. Congress is sure to respond quickly; legislation already is being drafted.

Machinery was in motion also to equip the commission with staff aides, offices and operating procedures.

The Warren group has full authority, under Johnson's executive order of last Friday which created it, to go beyond a mere evaluation of the FBI and other findings. The order empowers it to "conduct any further investigation it deems desirable."

Whether hearings will be held was not decided. Warren told reporters that none of the procedural questions had been settled finally.

Still to be resolved also was the question whether the White House will make public the FBI report before or after the commission studies and evaluates it.

Johnson promised that the findings would be made public in full, but did not say when, and White House press officers have been vague on the question. Warren told newsmen after Thursday's meeting that the commission still was working somewhat in the dark in approaching what he called its "very sad and very solemn duty" because it had not received the FBI or any other government report.

Man Killed in Mt. Home Crash

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark. (AP)—Clarence E. Dichory, 49, of Mountain Home, was killed Thursday when his car collided with a pickup truck at Mountain Home.

State Police said Dichory's car collided with a truck driven by Marvin Martin, 25, also of Mountain Home.

These were the employees in the production, maintenance and machine shop division.

Standard Generator is a division of Missouri Research Laboratories, Inc. of St. Louis.

Company officials refused to comment on what effect this will have on their local operation.

Unions Show Decline in Members

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (A)—The Labor Department has put its finger on a sore spot in the nation's labor movement — union membership losses.

And it blames the losses largely on a shift in the nation's job pattern toward more white collar workers, many of whom "have not recognized a need to be represented by unions."

Affiliates of the AFL-CIO, the giant of the labor world with more than 14 million members in this country and Canada, lost 220,000 members from 1960 to 1962, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported. There were no specific figures available for 1963, but the declining trend almost certainly continued this year.

"The drop in membership has been due to declining employment caused by structural shifts in the economy and lagging demand for the products of industry, rather than worker dissatisfaction with the labor movement," the bureau said.

But, it added, "There is as yet no evidence of a resurgence of organizing spirit comparable to that in the late 1930s and the early 1940s."

The membership loss figures are based on the bureau's own survey and reported in monthly labor review.

Many unions are reluctant to talk about membership losses. "Government figures on union membership are not reliable," said one union official.

Record Property Tax Take in L.R.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Tom Gulley, Pulaski County collector, this year collected a record $15,811,076.44 in property taxes — 98.09 per cent of the amount charged on the tax books.

The remaining $328,523.58 became delinquent Oct. 2.

His final statement was deposited Thursday with County Treasurer C. W. Stegall. It totaled $3,568,443.68, the largest single deposit ever.

4 1/2 Billion Work Bill Is Cleared

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee approved a $4.5 billion public works money bill Thursday that included $85,000,000 for Arkansas project.

The committee added $50,000 to the bill by providing $250,000 for a Red River construction project at Garland City in Miller County and $300,000 to a $1 million allocation for work on the Ouachita and Black Rivers.

The Garland City project was not in the House bill, which provided $1 million for the Ouachita and Black Rivers work.

The Senate group increased the budget for the Arkansas-Red River Pollution Study from $50,000 to $200,000 and added two planning projects — $44,000 for McKinney Bayou upstream extension and $75,000 for the Village Creek, White River and Mayberry levee districts.

Thompson Is Guilty; Is Given Life

By GEORGE MOSES

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—T. Eugene Thompson, 36, was convicted Friday of arranging the brutal slaying of his wife, Carol, 34, after one of Minnesota's most sensational murder trials. He was immediately sentenced to life imprisonment.

A six-man, six-woman jury took over a day to convict the dapper attorney of first-degree murder nine months to the day after his wife was fatally beaten and stabbed in their fashionable home in St. Paul.

The state contended Thompson hired the killer for love of another woman and for more than $1 million in insurance.

The blond, crew-cut lawyer remained in jail today pending his transfer to the state prison at Stillwater to see the life sentence imposed by Judge Rolf Fosseen. There is no capital punishment in Minnesota.

With good behavior, Thompson would be eligible for parole after 17 1/2 years.

If his attorneys appeal — which they indicated likely — and if the predictably heavy bond is met, Thompson could be free pending a decision by the State Supreme Court. Prosecutor William Randall said he would recommend "substantially heavier" than the $100,000 under which Thompson was free during his trial.

The scene in the courtroom when the jury returned topped six weeks of steadily building emotion.

Clerk Frank Archambo took the sealed verdict from the foreman, Sidney C. Becker, 71. After handing it to Judge Fosseen, who read it without expression, Archambo read it aloud.

When he came to the word "guilty," Thompson's head dropped.

As each juror was asked to defend attorney Hyam Segell's request, if this was his or her true verdict, Thompson stared at the jurors.

The jury took seven ballots to arrive at a guilty verdict. It was reported first split about 50-50.

Bids in Building to Test Engines

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—N. P. Aless, Inc., of Little Rock submitted an apparent low bid of $23,747 Thursday on construction of a building in which jet engines will be tested at Little Rock Air Force Base.

Nabholz Construction Co. of Conway submitted the only other bid, $29,984. The bids were taken under advisement.

6 Operations Regain Sight for Boy, 10

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Doctors at Houston's Methodist Hospital waited today for the results of what they hope will be the last operation on the eyes of Bill Bradley, 10, of El Dorado, Ark.

The youngster was blinded in April 1962 when struck blind at a water fountain beneath the boughs of a tree during a session with the Junior Pee Wee League of the First Baptist Church of El Dorado.

In July 1962, he was brought to Houston for surgery on the cataracts that had formed on his eyes. He has been to the operating room about six times.

"This one ought to be the last one for him," his doctor said. "His vision was about 20-60 before this one. We hope to go to 20-20 now."

It will take about a week to evaluate Bill's condition, the doctor said.

Interstate Road Net Is Taking Shape

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — With the most difficult and most expensive project out of the way, the state Highway Department is turning now to spreading the net of interstate highways across Arkansas.

The "most" project is, of course, the Greater Little Rock Expressway on which the department spent $25 million for construction and $12 million for right of way over a five-year period.

The last segment of the expressway was opened in September. It cut driving time through the Little Rock area from an hour to 15 minutes.

With the scheduled opening of 40 miles of Interstate Route 55 in Mississippi County next week, Arkansas will near the one-quarter mark in completion of its 528 miles portion of the national interstate system.

Arkansas will have 115 miles in service when the route from Lake David to near Blytheville is opened to through traffic Dec. 12 or 13.

This leaves only 12 miles from the end of this segment to the Missouri line still under construction on the 68.3 mile Arkansas leg of Interstate 55. Completion of the last 12 miles is scheduled late next year.

The Highway Department is continuing with its policy of working first on by-passes of larger cities and then tying the by-passes together.

Under this policy, by-passes are under construction at Forrest City, Russellville, Clarksville and Fort Smith in Interstate 40 and at Arkadelphia and Texarkana on Interstate 30.

And the "spokes" on the interstate continues to push out from Little Rock. A bridge to take Interstate 30 across the Ouachita River south of Malvern has been completed and construction is under way which will carry the highway from its present terminal near Benton to the bridge.

Contracts also have been let to bring Interstate 30 northward from Texarkana to the Red River.

Grading contracts have been let on Interstate 40 eastward to near Hazen and westward to Mayflower from the North Terminal Interchange in North Little Rock.

Ward Goodman, acting state highway director, said Arkansas is on schedule as far as completion of its interstate roads by the target date of 1972 is concerned.

But Arkansas won't be able to meet an interim target of completion of half of its system by 1964.

"This is because we have worked on the most difficult sections first," he said. "A lot of states are making a big show on mileage, but they still have the difficult and expensive parts to build."

Interstate Route 40 runs from Memphis to Fort Smith through North Little Rock. Interstate 30 leaves 40 at North Little Rock and leaves the state at Texarkana.

The highways are divided, four-lane, limited access roads.

Mexican Help Program to Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 12-year-old program under which Mexicans are imported to work on farms in the United States will be allowed to continue for a 13th year, but probably no more.

The Senate, in a back-track action Wednesday, voted 50 to 36 to accept a House version of the Bracero bill, sending it to President Johnson for his signature or veto.

The program was due to expire at the end of this year; the bill extends it to Dec. 31, 1964. Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee which handles such legislation, promised Tuesday that if the program were extended for one more year he would not bring it up again.

The first Senate version, passed 44 to 43, carried an amendment prohibiting the hiring of imported labor until domestic labor had been offered conditions comparable to those guaranteed the Braceros.

The Senate adopted the House version, which lacked the amendment, in Wednesday's action.

Des Arc has a French name which means "the bow" or bend in the river.

Smoke Study Centered on Old Hands

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
Associated Press Science Writer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—You are past 40: Been smoking since age 15 or before? Inhale? A new barrage of figures linking smoking to disease and death may seem centered on you.

The broadest study of the subject yet made shows death rates increase with extent of exposure to cigarette smoke, says the American Cancer Society.

Its report today came on the heels of a proposal by the American Medical Association's Board of Trustees for a research program on tobacco and health "beyond statistical evidence."

The American Cancer Society's report was based on 422,094 men who filled out detailed questionnaires and then were traced for an average of 34.3 months.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, the society's director of statistical research, outlined the new findings at the 17th annual clinical meeting of the American Medical Association. The figures confirm previous findings and go further, he said.

Pipe-smoking Dr. Hammond reported death rates were far higher among cigarette smokers than non-smokers, they increased with amount of smoking, and they were lower among ex-smokers of a year or longer than among current smokers.

The latest study, aimed at refuting challenges to six earlier ones, includes many new factors. One part of it compares death rates of 36,975 matched pairs (one smoker and one non-smoker).

The "twins" were matched for age, race, height, urban or rural residence, and numerous other characteristics—even degree of baldness and frequency of eating fried foods. The smoker in each pair used a pack of cigarettes a day or more.

Of the 36,975 matched pairs, 1,385 of the smokers died during the study compared with 662 of the non-smokers.

Lung cancer killed 110 of the smokers, 12 of the non-smokers. Fifteen smokers died of emphysema, another lung disease, compared with 1 non-smoker. More than twice as many smokers as non-smokers (684 and 312; died of two arterial diseases. Other causes felled 576 smokers compared with 329 of the non-smoking "twins."

Among smokers age 40 to 69 who started before age 15 the death rate was 2.9 as high as among those who never smoked regularly.

Lung cancer death rates of current cigarette smokers were 11 times as high as non-smokers—18 times as high among very heavy smokers.

The American Tobacco Institute has said conclusive scientific evidence is lacking to show connection between cancer and smoking.

Dr. Hammond said other diseases found related to cigarette smoking included cancer of the mouth, throat and bladder, and gastric ulcers.

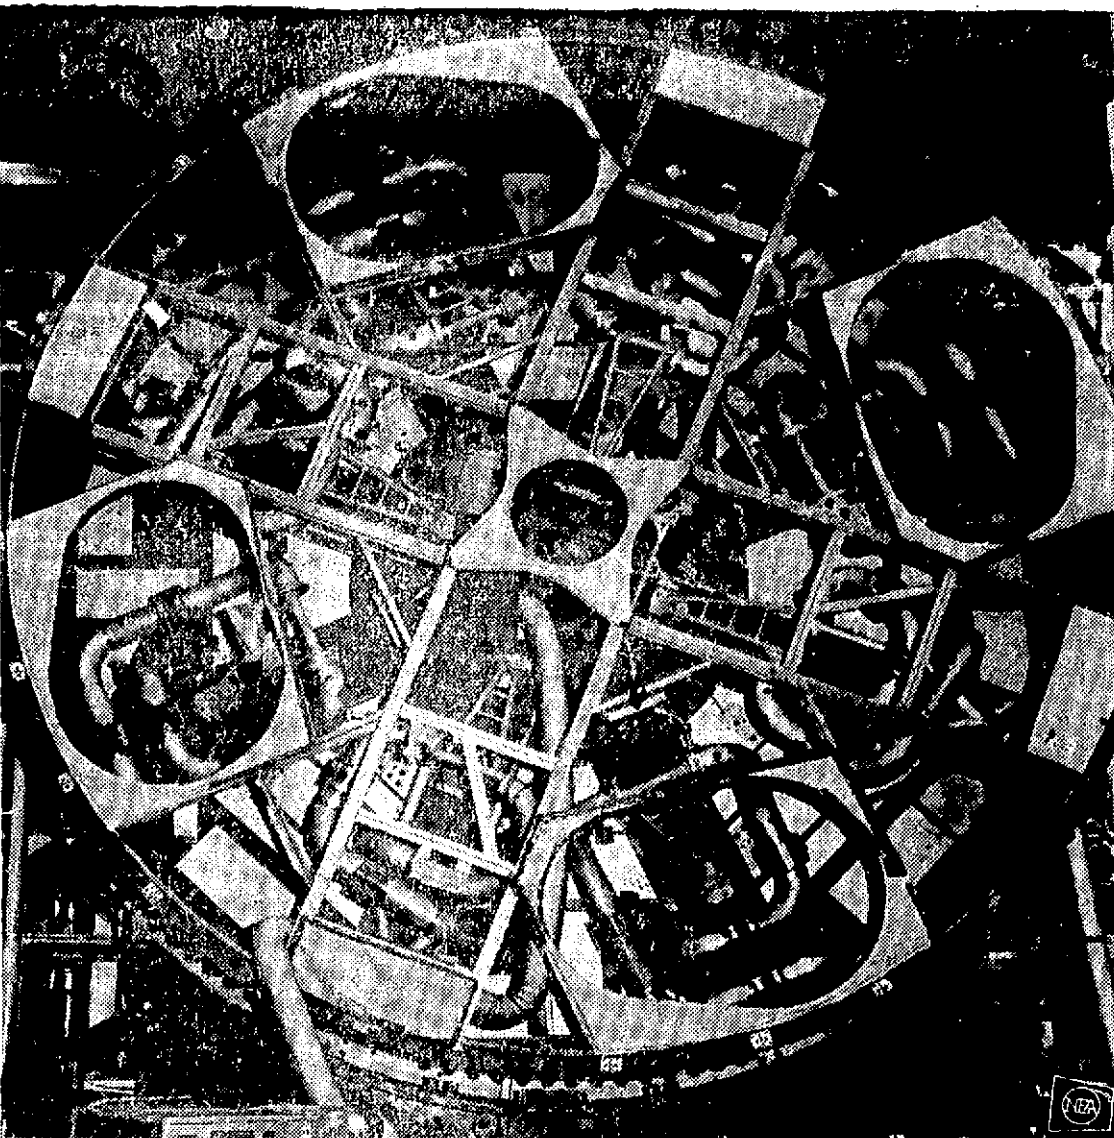

Man Found Shot to Death in Truck

Jackson County Sheriff Leonard Woodman said Laxton had been shot in the head. The body was sent to the University of Arkansas Medical Center at Little Rock for an autopsy. Woodman announced no arrests.

When you do, you'll have a good idea of the size of the giant S-I booster stage of the Saturn I space vehicle being built by Chrysler at the Michoud facility in New Orleans. The three technicians are checking the maze of tubing involved in the fuel supply and control of the eight rocket engines. When completed the S-I will have 7,500 feet of tubing in 1,200 parts, 50 miles of wire in 24,000 parts, 245 valves, nine tanks and eight engines. Where are the three men? One is poking his head out of the center opening, one is standing on a strut just to the left and the third is entangled in some tubing just above and to the right of the first two.

"I'm a B minus, Clara," Ann heard Kitty Linsen tell the harried lab technician as they hurried past the door; then she was lost again in her world of blistered, weeping skin, of flesh sloughing off until bone was exposed, of men dying and others so badly burned it was going to be a miracle if they lived more than a few hours.

If the lactated Ringer's solution, the saline, the whole blood and the morphine carried the screaming, writhing or ominously quiet men through these first hours of shock, until their own bodies, rehabilitative powers could even begin to take over, they might have a chance. Some of them might. There were others.

With the discipline of her profession, Ann banished the shudder. It had been almost two hours since the gas, apparently released by that first rocking explosion, had seeped through the Ledbie Chemicals office—laboratory and had been touched off—two hours through which Ann, Peter McDonnal, Dr. Hank, Dave Clyde, Cass Llewellyn and all the rest of them had moved like medical automata, doing the right thing and praying that it would be enough—and knowing, sometimes, that it was not. She'd even seen Dr. Lyle, his pomposity askew, on his knees working over a man on one of the stretchers. Now some of the injured had been taken to City Hospital in Howell, and a team of doctors and nurses had answered Peter's call, bringing with them blood from the bank at Howell City, drugs, emergency equipment.

"Dr. McDonnal wants your motorist."

Samuel Jerome Justice, 56, was killed on U.S. Highway 65 just outside the North Little Rock city limits when his truck and one driven by Landers collided.

Ann inserted the needle in her basilic vein. "I have told them to get whatever the hospital needs," Helen ignored him, "and if I know my Peter McDonnal—" The dark eyes meeting Ann's were challenging, calculating. He is my Peter stat," said a man. Ann's heart constricted. Ben Fisher had been brought to the hospital, seemed an eternity. Then Peter was saying, without looking up, "We're going to do a person-to-person, Ann. Helen is O minus—"

As Ann's eyes flew to the stretcher beyond the one on which Ben Fisher lay, Helen Ledbie said, "Peter says I am the universal donor, Dr. Kenyon."

"Yes."

Dark eyes went to the man's dreadfully burned body. Ann worked with him, readying the equipment they were going to need: the U tube connected to its syringe, so that blood could be with drawn from Helen's vein; a valve which turned so the blood instantly would be injected into Ben Fisher's vein; the tourniquet; the pillow under Helen's arm; the rubber mackintosh—Ann wondered if he was thinking as she was—that Les Bookley was not worth it. Les Bookley who, thanks to the man he had tried to bribe and, because he could not, had scorned, thanks to Ben Fisher who lived on a shanty boat, Les Bookley had only partial—thickness cutaneous burns—

"I know what you're thinking," Helen Ledbie said as Ann wet her lips. "What everyone else is thinking. It's my fault. Oh, I don't mean the explosions and fire," as Ann started to shush her, "I mean Ledbie Memorial not having its own blood bank and—things." She drew a deep breath. "I have told Peter and Dr. Hank—"

"Later, Helen," Peter interrupted her again.

Ann inserted the needle in her basilic vein. "I have told them to get whatever the hospital needs," Helen ignored him, "and if I know my Peter McDonnal—" The dark eyes meeting Ann's were challenging, calculating. He is my Peter

Court Will Review Dog Lover's Case

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginia's Supreme Court will review the case of a dog lover who balked at surrendering his pet for execution.

The court agreed Tuesday to consider the appeal of Jim Laing of Pearisburg, who was fined $1,000 and sentenced to four months in jail. His German shepherd, Ricky, was sentenced to death two years ago in Giles County Circuit Court for sheep killing.

Laing appealed, claiming Ricky did not kill the sheep, but was only standing guard over the carcass.

Twice the U.S. Supreme Court declined to review the case, and Laing was found guilty of contempt when he refused to surrender the dog for execution. He contended he had given Ricky McDonnal, they were saying to Ann. I was going to marry him before you came—before all the talk.

From somewhere Ann summoned a smile. "If I know Peter he's going to make Ledbie Memorial a credit to your grandfather's dream."

Peter adjusted the valve so that Helen's blood was flowing into the unconscious Ben Fisher's vein before he met Ann's eyes. "It wasn't only Murrp Ledbie's dream, Ann. It's Dr. Hank's, and ours — yours and mine, Ann—" His voice softened became a caress, and although he added, "And yours, Helen," was looking into Ann's eyes.

In that tiny fragment of time the dream had become hers and Peter's — Ann Kenyon's future and Peter McDonnal's had become one, and if in a world in which there would always be Ben Fishers, and pain, and misery, and dying, that was the way Ann wanted it. After all, it would be a world in which she and Peter would pit their compassion, their medical and surgical skills against that pain and misery . . . a world in which there also would be love . . . their love, shared. Her smile for Helen Ledbie was an acceptance of the challenge.

DOROTHY DIX

READERS' TURN

By Helen Worden Erskine
Dear Helen: I am a product of a teen-age marriage. My husband is 26 and I am 19. We were married a year ago and are expecting our first baby next month. Neither one of us finished high school, I because of sickness, he because of trouble at home. Some day we both hope to complete high school. Meanwhile he is taking an art course. He has worked four years on construction jobs but gets laid off five months out of every year; high pay in summer, low pay and finally no employment in the winter.

We are buying our own home. What with the payments and other bills, plus unemployment it makes the winter rough going. This is when we fight the most. But it's always about finances, never his flirting.

In fact, I would worry if my husband didn't flirt, go out with the boys or come home a little high. He always asks me if he can go. I never say no even when I know we don't have the money.

He can't understand why I don't get mad when the other guys get yelled at as soon as they walk in the door. You see I married him for what he was, not for what I could change him into. As a result he tells me in many ways how much he loves me. He's a wonderful man, the life of the party and everybody's friend. He'll make people laugh even when he's down in the dumps and could cry. And I love him for it.

My marriage might last a lifetime or only a few years but I know one thing, I've never been happier. My advice to any other woman is to take a good look at herself and her partner. Concentrate on what she does like in him and ignore his faults; she has hers too. If a wife wants to stay married she must learn to live with the bad as well as the good side of her husband. One thing is for sure, she can't change him.

As most of us wives find out, marriage is not what it's cracked up to be in books. But it can be fun if you resolve to make it that way. This means liking as well as loving your man. —Happy

Dear Helen: I was a little sickened to read your views on the morality of strip-teasers. No good woman with a clean heart would be a party to doing anything which might cause a man to commit adultery.

You are one of those persons to whom the Scriptures apply, I believe. I quote from Timothy II, fourth chapter, third, fourth and fifth verses: "For the time is coming when people will not endure sound teaching, but having itching ears they will accumulate for themselves teachers to suit their own liking and will turn away from listening to the truths and wander into myths."

Jesus said, "I would that ye were hot or cold. If ye are lukewarm, I will spew you out of my mouth." If Christianity is just shaking a preacher's hand, joining a church and showing up when convenient, then you wouldn't respect a God who would accept you on those terms. God says, "Ye shall seek me and find me when you search for me with all your heart." I wonder if this has been your experience. —So Concerned

Dear Concerned: I doubt that anyone who really knows me would say I was lukewarm or cold. Nor am I a Sunday Christian. My religion is as much a part of me as my breathing. Its cornerstones are understanding, compassion and a natural desire to help others to help themselves. I try to live by that quotation from the Old Testament, Proverbs fourth chapter, seventh verse: "Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom; and with all thy getting get understanding."

Wouldn't it be more Christian to first get understanding about the strip-teaser's way of life before condemning her. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Ten Commandments for Happiness."

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Venezuela Reds Release U.S. Officer

By PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Col. James K. Chenault of Sherman, Tex., kidnapped by pro-Communist terrorists eight days ago, was released today.

Chenault, 47, of Sherman, Tex., was unharmed. He is deputy chief of the U.S. military mission in Venezuela.

The pro-Communist Armed Forces for National Liberation—FALN—kidnaped him in front of his home last Wednesday in an attempt to focus international headlines on its campaign to sabotage the presidential elections last Sunday.

The terrorist campaign was a failure. A record number of Venezuelans turned out to vote.

The FALN in telephone calls to Caracas newspapers had said it would not harm the American officer and would release him on Saturday, the day before the election. But it continued to hold him after the voting.

The U.S. Embassy said Chenault's kidnapers took him to a point a few blocks from his home and he walked from there. He reached home at 6 a.m. and telephoned embassy officials at once.

The FALN widened its campaign of violence to include British targets. Previously the terrorists had concentrated on U.S. interests and Venezuelan government installations.

The terrorists machine-gunned the residence of the British ambassador Wednesday and bombed a British automobile agency.

No one was injured in either attack. Ambassador Sir Douglas Bask was away when the attack occurred. The motor company's store front was shattered and several automobiles damaged.

The FALN gave no reason for its anti-British campaign, but it is believed to be a reprisal against Trinidad's release to Venezuelan authorities last week of six FALN members who hijacked a Venezuelan airliner and flew it to Port of Spain, Trinidad. A member of the British Commonwealth.

Meanwhile, the Supreme Electoral Council continued its slow count of ballots and said it expected to announce the official results of the presidential election on Sunday. All indications are that Raul Leoni, candidate of President Romulo Betancourt's Democratic Action party, will be the winner.

Cotton, Rice Allotments to Counties

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The State Agricultural and Conservation Stabilization Committee announced today how it has apportioned cotton and rice acreage allotments among producing counties.

Cotton allotments are changed slightly, either up or down, in most instances but rice allotments are the same as last year.

The statewide cotton allotment was increased 5,293 acres to a total of 1,327,747. The rice allotments of 439,019 acres was unchanged from last year.

The county which produces the most cotton—Mississippi—had its allotment reduced more than 2,000 acres but still has by far the highest total, 175,090.

Allotments for the other major producing counties are Crittenden, 94,178; Poinsett, 83,172; Craighead, 78,783; Phillips, 78,503; Jefferson, 66,062; and St. Francis, 65,015.

The county allotments are based 90 per cent on a five-year crop history average and 10 per cent on producing trends.

Rex Owens of the ASC office said the trend means that some counties voluntarily are producing less cotton and their allotments are being moved to counties that want to produce more.

Arkansas County is the largest rice producing county with an allotment of 78,498 acres. Other rice allotments include Prairie County, 40,337; Lonoke, 39,337; Poinsett, 38,391; Cross, 35,732; Jackson, 20,689; Woodruff, 20,456; St. Francis, 18,743; Craighead, 17,538 and Jefferson, 17,398.

Ted Freeman on 2nd Life Trial

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ted B. Freeman of Little Rock went on trial for the second time today for the slaying of Billy G. McKim, 32, in a Little Rock private club on Sept. 16, 1962.

The first trial last Feb. 8 ended in a mistrial when Judge William J. Kirby learned that spectators had been talking to some of the witnesses.

Before the start of today's trial, Kirby said that if a similar instance occurred in this trial he would find the offending parties in contempt of court and give them 30 day jail sentences.

Youth Hopes to See Again

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Bill Bradley, 10, of El Dorado, takes another trip to Houston, Tex., today in hopes that he may someday see again.
He was blinded in April 1962, while standing beneath a tree which was struck by lightning during a baseball practice.
Two previous operations by doctors at Houston restored his sight to a blur.

Negro Couple Killed in Car Crash

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Ray Adams, 21, and his wife, Alfreda, 18, Negroes of North Little Rock, were killed Wednesday in a head-on collision on U.S. Highway 65.
Doyles Lee Homsley, 30, of North Little Rock, was hospitalized at Conway, where he was said to be in serious condition.
State Trooper Dwayne Thompson said the Adams car, traveling northeast, bumped the rear of a car driven by Andy Ray Hall, 22, of Mayflower. Hall was not hurt, Thompson said.
Then the Adams car swerved left in an attempt to pass the Hall car and pulled into the path of a tractor-truck driven by Homsley. The truck flipped forward and landed on its top, Thompson said.
Mayflower is 12 miles south of Conway.

This Series Could Run Forever

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Television networks and sponsors always like to see in advance the way a prospective new series shapes up.
A half-hour show usually costs about $50,000 to produce. Hence one of the most economical and effective ways of putting a pilot on view is to introduce the new characters in an episode of some established show. In industry slang this is called a "spin off."
Monday night's "Danny Thomas Show" on CBS was the show case for a quintet of Irish comedians and folksingers. Thomas and his busy production company would like to build a series around them.
If the three Clancy brothers, Tommy Makem and Barbara Mullen make the grade, their series would never go plot hungry. The boys sing and play musical instruments. Miss Mullen is one of those witty, peppery ladies television writers are so fond of. Everyone has a rich brogue.
Also, according to a suggestion slipped into Monday night's show, the boys propose to become, respectively, a doctor, a lawyer, an advertising man and, a policeman. With all those things going for them, their series could run forever.
Unhappily, their pilot film was not up to the comedy standards of Thomas' weekly show.
NBC, after considerable study decided Monday to postpone its documentary program on Cuba and the Bay of Pigs invasion scheduled for next Sunday night. The chronicle deeply involved the late President John F. Kennedy and it was considered in better taste to delay the hour program.
Replacement will be a music and comedy special, "The Best on Record" with winners of "Grammy" awards repeating the numbers that won them honors from the recording industry. The taped program originally was scheduled for Nov. 24, but was canceled by the President's death.
ABC currently is pondering how to make better use of correspondents Howard K. Smith and Edward Morgan, both of whom turned in noteworthy jobs in the network's coverage of John F. Kennedy's death.
Smith has been seen only on a biweekly basis this season in a Sunday afternoon interview program. Morgan has a daily radio show.
Despite reports, however, ABC currently has no plans to team the commentators in Huntley-Brinkley fashion.

Italian Students Stage a Protest
ROME (AP)—Hundreds of students from the University of Rome's engineering school staged a lecture session in the Colosseum Wednesday to protest inadequate classroom facilities.

"More than 1,500 freshman and sophomores have to take turns in five small classrooms at our school," said one of the students. "At least we have plenty of room here."
The students had asked their teachers to lecture to them in the ancient arena. The teachers refused. So a student spoke for an hour on mathematics.

Coolness of Harry, Ike Is Mending

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The reported coolness between former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower appears to have thawed some more.
Tom Gavin, who accompanied Truman to the funeral of President John F. Kennedy in Washington, tells about a half-hour meeting between the two after services.
Gavin, long-time friend of Truman, is a former city councilman in Kansas City. He now is a public relations counselor.
Truman and Eisenhower rode together in the funeral procession. Gavin said Truman and his daughter, Mrs. Clifton Daniel, invited Eisenhower and his wife to Blair House for some refreshments. Also there were Gens. Harry Vaughan, Neil Marra, Clement Conger and Adm. Robert L. Dennison, he said.
"I can't remember much that was said—only that they talked about happy times," Gavin recalled.
"I remember once Gen. Eisenhower recalled how the President had sent him on some mission and then Truman said, 'and you did a fine job on that.' 'It was just like two old soldiers recalling the times and people they'd known. Maybe you can say the funeral and all the things that had happened that weekend brought them together. But it was more than that. It was two men who had lived in the same time remembering things they cared about.'"
Earlier this year Eisenhower had visited with Truman at the Harry Truman Library in Independence, Mo., and was given a personally conducted tour by the Missourian.
Gavin said after the talking began, Eisenhower "stood up and carried his chair down and sat next to Mr. Truman."
Gavin said they talked for about 30 minutes, after which the two shook hands — "You could see the warmth in their eyes when they did."
Gavin said he didn't hear much of what Mrs. Eisenhower and Mrs. Daniel were talking about "because I was paying attention to the men."
In New York City, Mrs. Daniel said that she and her father received a phone call on Sunday from the Eisenhower home membership over the years have been somewhat out of kilter," an AFL-CIO spokesman commented.

The federation said its own figures show a 962 loss of about 74,000 members in comparison with the 222,000 reported by the bureau. The AFL-CIO spokesman said the trend this year is roughly the same.
While the bureau saw no new major surge of union organizing, the AFL-CIO is trying to get one off the ground. It is in the pilot stage at the moment.
Labor's future organizing success depends greatly on how well it can persuade white collar workers to join unions.
"The changing occupational and industrial pattern is unfavorable to employment in the older industries in which unions have their most substantial foothold," the bureau said.
"As technology, competition of products and services, changing consumer demands, and rising labor productivity take their toll of employment, unions in older economic areas necessarily decline in size."

19 Killed in Boat Ambush in Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Communist guerrillas shelled a big river boat carrying two companies of Vietnamese troops in the Mekong Delta today and killed 19. They wounded 69.
The attack was staged with mortars and 57mm recoilless rifles from the jungled banks of a canal in Kien Hoa Province, southwest of Saigon.
A U.S. military spokesman announced two American helicopters downed by Communist fire in the northwest near the Cambodian border were repaired and flown out Wednesday night.
Both ships had been removing refugees from Bo Kut out-at Gettsburg. The caller asked if President Truman and Mrs. Daniel would care to ride with the Eisenhower to the funeral the next day. Word was sent back that they would.

Mrs. Truman did not come to Washington because she was recovering from influenza and did not feel up to the trip.

Construction of the State Capitol was started July 28, 1899, on state lands which were then being used as the penitentiary, and was completed in 1916.

Several hits were registered on both helicopters, but the pilots brought the helicopters safely to the ground.
Steel fragments hit two Americans on one ship and two on the other. They were treated for superficial wounds.
None of the refugees aboard the helicopters was hit.

If Ye Would

talk with God—your line must be in good repair. His ear is not dull that He cannot hear, but your sins have grounded the line between you and God. There is too much static in your life. Heaven's switchboard is always open to those who are worthy of a call. You can't wait until you are sick, or in trouble and expect God to answer your call. Show Him the courtesy of being dependent upon Him. Go to church, keep your line free of trouble. Talk with Him regularly if you expect His blessing.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.
